Given Year Hard Labor

Guilty Of Manslaughter Is Verdict Of Lengyel Case

Given Year Hard Labor From
Date of Arrest; Many Witnesses
Heard; Trial Last All Day.

Macleod. — Charged with the murder of Louis Gal on Dec. 21, 1944, at Blairmore, where he received his preliminary hearing, Joseph Lengyel, Hungarian coal miner, was tried in Supreme Court at Macleod on Monday by Mr. Justice Shepherd and a jury.

The trial lasted all day. The jury brought in their verdict at 5.50 p.m. after being out for exactly 18 minutes. Their verdict was one of guilty of manslaughter with a strong recommendation to mercy.

His Lordship, in sentencing the accused to one year in the Lethbridge jail with hard labor, to date from the date of his arrest, Dec. 21, 1944, stated that men must realize that they must not fight each other with knives.

M. E. Moscovitch, K.C. of Lethbridge, defended the accused, Joe Lengyel, while J. H. Prowse, K.C. of Lethbridge, prosecuted on behalf of the Crown. The jury was composed of the following: G. S. Scamman, L. D. Clark and A. W. Miller, of Claresholm; R. B. Young, of Staveland, and C. Hinton and A. J. Johnson, of Pincher Creek.

Witnesses Called

Witnesses heard during the trial were Frank Bartok, Leslie Tisooki, Joseph Koenigs, Dr. J. W. MacGregor, RCMP Detective Campbell, Ross Amatto, Chief of Police Dan Mills, of Blairmore, Dr. R. F. Stewart, of Blairmore, Const. Madill, Sgt. Thos. Mudiman and Const. McDonald, of the RCMP. Henry Schwartz, of Lethbridge, was present as interpreter, but was only called on one occasion to interpret the exact words of one witness which had an important bearing on the trial. This was during the cross-examination of witness Leslie Tisooki by Mr. Moscovitch.

Dr. Stewart, pathologist from the University of Alberta, gave evidence regarding the examination of clothing and articles taken by the police as exhibits in the case and the presence of human blood thereon.

At the request of defence counsel, all witnesses other than the police were excluded from the trial until they were called.

Many photographs taken by Constable Campbell showing from various angles the interior of the cabin where the fight was enacted, plans and several articles of clothing taken from the accused which he was wearing when the fight with Louis Gal took place on the early morning of Dec. 21, 1944, at Blairmore, were produced. In addition to the above there were three knives and a poker entered as exhibits.

Defence counsel requested the presiding judge to remove the jury in fairness to all concerned while he wished to present arguments which the jury should not hear. His Lordship ordered the jury to retire, which they did at 3.42 p.m. and returned at 4.08 p.m. after His Lordship had refused defence counsel's application to take the case out of the hands of the jury or that they be directed that a verdict on the evidence could be either guilty or not guilty of murder.

Mr. Moscovitch quoted the cases of Rex vs. DeGauy (No. 2 W.W. Law Reports) and Rex vs. Filbrook (page 26 No. 77 Canadian Criminal Cases and section 53 sub. sec. 2) in regard to self defence, claiming that the crown had absolutely proved a case of self defence.

The jury returned following arguments and crown counsel commenced his address to the jury at 4.12 and ended at 4.33 and was immediately followed by Mr. Moscovitch, who made a strong address to the jury for 23 minutes. His Lordship's charge to the jury followed and ended at 5.25 p.m.

Two statements by the accused made to Sgt. Mudiman after the statutory warning were entered as exhibits upon the request of defence counsel and to which he waived any objections provided they both were entered and not one alone. Arguments between counsel resulted in His Lordship ordering that they both be entered as exhibits. These exhibits were the main crown evidence. The evidence was much the same as that taken at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Fred Antrobus.

DOCTOR BORDEN'S PICTURE IS FEATURED IN THE VANCOUVER SUN

In the Feb. 26 issue of the Vancouver Sun there are a number of pictures of British Columbia men arriving on the east coast from the battle fields of Europe. In one of the pictures is Doctor Borden, who is now on the medical staff of the Canadian hospital ship, Lady Nelson. Doc. is greeting some of the men who have just recently arrived on this side on the hospital ship, the Letitia.

TIME LOST THROUGH STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS

A total of 32,142 man working days were lost during January, 1945, in 16 strikes involving 6,435 workers, the department of labor announced. The figures show a 37% increase over January, 1944, when 23,408 days were lost in 26 strikes involving 8,140 workers.

More than 76% of the total time lost was due to the walk-out of street railway employees at Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, B.C., where 2,454 workers in the three cities took part in a ten-day strike which caused a total loss of 25,440 man working days.

One strike, involving 26 workers, was carried over from December, 1944, and 15 new strikes commenced during the first month of this year. Of the total, 15 were terminated and one—a claimed lockout of coal miners at Robb, Alberta—was recorded as un terminated at January 31.

RED CROSS FOOD PARCEL ON DISPLAY AT COLEMAN HARDWARE

Displayed in the Coleman Hardware window this week is a sample Red Cross food parcel for prisoners of war. Many stories have been written on how these food parcels have saved countless thousands of soldiers' lives and the reason is plain when one considers that the following foodstuffs are contained in each parcel: Tea, butter, cheese, raisins, milk powder, dried prunes, salt and pepper, sardines, kippers, eating chocolate, jam, sugar, pork patties, corned beef, pilot biscuits, salmon and soap.

A prisoner of war receives one of these parcels each week.

Blood Donors Urgently Needed For Local Clinic

List Names of Citizens Whom Clinic Officials Would Like
Once Again to Volunteer.

On Monday Secretary J. A. Park received a list of names from the Blood Clinic at Calgary. These names are of local citizens who volunteered as blood donors when the Red Cross Blood Clinic visited Coleman last fall.

If these citizens would once again volunteer as donors a great deal of time and effort on the part of the local Red Cross committee would be saved.

Following is the list received from Calgary, and if it is at all possible for those listed to again give their blood, it would be appreciated if they would list their names with either Coleman Hardware: Miss A. Yuill or Coleman Journal:

Pee Wee Hockey Notes

Blairmore Juveniles 11
Coleman Juveniles 10

Blairmore juveniles defeated the Coleman juveniles 7-5 at Blairmore on Tuesday, Feb. 27, to win the total-goals series 11-10. Coleman had previously defeated Blairmore 5-1 on Saturday, Feb. 24.

This series provided some exceptionally fast hockey, with Blairmore showing better finish around the goal and Coleman showing superiority in combination plays. Coleman players seemed to be a little over-anxious and continually muffed scoring chances with only the goalkeeper to beat. The keen rivalry between the two teams provided the best display of hockey seen here this year, and closed a very successful season for the local boys.

Blairmore now meets Lethbridge in the second round, with the series opening in Lethbridge on Monday, March 12, and closing in Blairmore on Wednesday, March 14.

PEE WEE LEAGUE

In matches played at the Coleman arena on Thursday, Feb. 22, the Legions defeated the Pats 3-2 and the Elks defeated the Lions 3-2. By virtue of their win the Elks won the league championship.

LIONS HOSTS TO ELKS AT SUPPER

Last Wednesday evening Exalted Ruler George Jenkins, of the Elks, and President A. Balloch, of the Lions, led their clubs to the curling arena, where four rinks of Elks opposed four rinks of Lions.

Unfortunately for the latter club it was unable to ice the same number of seasoned players as the Elks and while three of the four games were very close the Elks won out. Jenkins once again maintained his reputation of being the luckiest man on the ice with his "trick" shots to nose out his opponent.

Following the games the Lions were hosts to their conquerors at a supper served in the Grand Union hotel where a social half hour was enjoyed.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN NOW IN PROGRESS

Secretary J. A. Park of Coleman branch of the Canadian Red Cross, reports that the local campaign is now in progress.

The firebrakes of both mines have started their canvass and will finish this week. On Saturday Miss A. Yuill was canvassing the business section and it is expected that other ladies will soon complete their canvass of the persons not associated with the mines or business places.

POST-WAR TRAINING OF WAR VETERANS

A departmental committee designed to bring about close co-ordination between the post-war training of war veterans and their placement in employment has been established by the Department of Labor. Fred J. White, regional superintendent, Unemployment Insurance, Commission, Winnipeg, announced this week on receipt of information received from Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor. The committee will also develop plans whereby any worker displaced from war work could be trained for other occupations, and work out arrangements with the Unemployment Insurance Commission to provide training for men and women while they are in receipt of unemployment insurance benefit in order that they would be fitted for new jobs.

In addition to studying the possibilities of post-war training, the committee will also go into the question of post-war participation of the employment service in training procedure.

Mr. White also pointed out that one of the "statutory conditions" attaching to the receipt of unemployment insurance benefit is that any insurable worker while receiving benefit must be prepared to take a course of training to fit him to accept employment, if required by direction of the Commission.

An interdepartmental committee, of which Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, is chairman, is already dealing with the subject of vocational training in reference to ex-members of the armed forces.

The Journal acknowledges with thanks renewal subscriptions received this week from Mrs. S. Milley, of Calgary, and Mrs. J. Hirst, of Nanaimo, B.C.

Scientists Have Found Jaundice Is Caused By A Virus

Our old enemy, the fly, is in for another drubbing by scientists. Many victims captured in Tunisia were victims of jaundice. Allied troops in the same area later contracted the same disease. Subsequent research suggests that jaundice is a virus disease with the fly as its most common carrier. The particular organism which causes it has not yet been isolated, but experiments—some carried out with assistance of conscientious objectors who volunteered for this service—have added greatly to medical knowledge regarding it. This organism, it has been determined, is exceptionally hardy, surviving temperatures high enough to kill most viruses. Since there are different kinds of jaundice, there probably also is more than one type.

Making public the conclusions so far reached, members of the Army Medical Corps reveal that jaundice is more prevalent than any other disease in this war. It is said to have cost more lives and more loss of time than any other sickness. In Italy it is even said to have inflicted more casualties than battle wounds. An attack has been enough to keep a man out of action for two or three or more months. Furthermore, it is increasing in this country to such an extent that it has been made reportable in many United States. Under these conditions the discovery that it comes from a virus, spread through pollution like diphtheria, is of utmost importance. The things that have been learned about its treatment are important, too. But the major thing is that on the basis of what is known now preventive measures can be taken. Foremost among these is to swat the fly.—Brandon Sun.

THE COST OF DISCIPLESHIP

Memory Selection: If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross, and follow me. Matthew 16:24.

Lesson: Matthew 19.

Devotional Reading: James 2:14-23.

Text Explained With Comments

The Cost of Discipleship, Matthew 19:16-22. And behold: Matthew's way of introducing a matter of importance. The Rich Young Ruler, as we call him, came to Jesus with the question, "Teacher, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?" The question was a natural one in those days when the rabbis had given out so many rules to follow.

The maxim of the rulers was, "There is nothing good but the Law." Jesus flung the young man out of that groove of thought by calling to his mind a goodness higher than the Law, namely, God's goodness. One there is who is good, and to obey him will be your right course of action. "But if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments," he added. "Which?" very naturally the young man asked, for Jesus had taught that there were six hundred and thirteen precepts in the law and they divided them into "heavy" and "light." In answer, Jesus cited the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth Commandments of the Decalogue, all of them bearing upon the treatment of others, and then added from Leviticus 19:18, "And, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

"All these things have I observed what lack I yet?" No wonder that Jesus, looking upon this young man of a clear record and earnest heart, loved him (Mark 10:21), and showed him where his great lack lay. "If thou wouldst be perfect, go, sell that which thou hast, and give unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me." The Greek word which is translated "perfect" means "thorough in the sense of single minded." This was the one thing necessary for this man to do, for between him and the love of God, as well as between him and the love of his neighbor, stood the love of his possessions. If he would put that love out of the way, he could love God with all his heart and his neighbor as with himself. Nowhere does Jesus condemn riches in themselves; he condemns the devotion to riches which makes a man lose his sense of the value of better things. It is not riches, but the love of riches which is the root of all evil.

The Temptations of Riches: The Subsequent Conversation with the Disciples, Matthew 19:23-26. Upon the departure of the young man, Jesus turned to his disciples and expressed his keen sense of disappointment that he could not see a "Verrily I say unto you, It is hard for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven." And he emphasized his point with a parable, saying, "Verily I say a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God."

Blind Man Could Not Operate Paper Route Without Dog

A Seeing Eye dog with a nose for news is the means of a livelihood, for blind Roy Noseman of Waynesville, N.C., reports "Our Dumb Animals."

The dog, fondly called "Sally," has a distinctive family tree that anyone knows of she's just plain dog, but she has been trained to do all the things required of a true Seeing-Eye dog and many more. Sally's master, Roy, had to make a living, so he decided to sell newspapers in order to build up a cash reserve for a future enterprise. But a newswoman in this small town was out of the question. It was then that Sally came to the rescue. Together they now operate a delivery route. People of Waynesville call Sally practically human. Roy starts out on his route, his arms bulging with papers. Sally, believe it or not, knows every step on the entire route. Frequently, Roy makes a mistake in tossing a paper toward a porch. When he does, Sally, in a flash, disengages his grip on her harness and redeposits the paper in the proper place.

MASTER OF THE HOUSE

By RUBY PROCTOR

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Deb was tired. His shoulders were hunched forward in their accustomed slump, and his chin was set at its usual defeated angle. He wanted to relax his thin body in the easy chair and read the paper before supper was ready. But it was not to be. "Papa," his wife said as soon as he entered the kitchen, "before you sit down now, I want you should put a new wash on the sink faucet."

It did not occur to Deb to protest. He was getting his tools in the basement when the car stopped in the drive. It was Tom Shannon bringing Mary, Deb's daughter, home. Deb did not mean to cavesson, but the basement window was open, and he couldn't help but hear. It was the same old argument.

"If we can't afford to live by ourselves, we won't get married until I get another raise."

"Oh, Tom," Mary's voice was fearful. "Why don't you like Papa?" He always chose whatever Mama says.

"I'm never going to be like Deb," Tom said, scornfully. "When we're married I'll be master of the house."

Deb was too surprised to be angry. Master of the house; it was a frightening thought. He pushed it quickly to the back of his mind, and went on about his task.

So Deb didn't see the paper until after supper. He folded it over, and there was the ad. He saw it right off. "For sale. Small farm, fruit trees, six to ten house, good condition. Will sacrifice for $6,500 cash."

It was exactly what he had wanted for years. Deb thought excitedly. He would let Mama find the ad for herself. But Mama's eyes passed indifferently over the classifieds. She stifled a yawn, turned the

"Did you see that ad?" he managed finally. "The one about the small farm for sale, just sixty-five hundred dollars."

"Oh," said Mama indifferently, "is that cheap?"

Deb didn't know if it was cheap or not. That wasn't the point. "That's just what we got," said Deb. "Sixty-five hundred dollars."

Mama looked startled. "Now, Papa, you don't know a thing about farming, and you're too old to learn."

"We could have a garden and flowers and things," Deb argued wistfully, "and a cow and chickens like we always planned."

"No, Papa, we are too old to make a change now," she said stubbornly.

Mary spoke from the doorway. "Papa, that's the silliest notion I ever heard of."

Deb felt sick. If Mary were on his side she could win her mother over. He maintained a resentful silence. Suppose Tom had wanted a farm it was exciting just to think about it. Tom would have bought it. He would have been master of the house.

The next day on his way home at noon, Deb met Mary.

"I guess Tom and I can't get married this year," she said unhappily. "I looked at apartments, but the rents are too high."

Deb said, resentfully, "If we look that farm, you and Tom could have this place, rent-free."

He saw Mary's stricken look, and thought, spitefully: It serves her right for always siding in with her mother.

Mama was a good cook. She had Deb's favorite dinner, but he didn't even touch his dessert; blueberry pie, too.

All afternoon Deb thought about it. What could Mama do if he just went ahead? "Mama," he would say crisply, "today I bought that farm. Next week we'll move."

Then he would be sternly silent, unmoved by her tears. At last she would dry her eyes and begin to pack. Deb chuckled delightedly with the thought. A man ought to be master in his own house.

He walked home after work with a brisk, determined step. Unconsciously his shoulders straightened and his chin jutted forward. Mama and Mary had just come in. Mary's arms were full of bundles. Mama looked hot and tired and triumphant. Deb stood with his legs braced far apart. He gave Mama a cold, masterful glance. This was going to be hard on her.

But Mama was paying no attention to Deb. She was chatting brightly. "We went for a ride this afternoon, and Mary said as long as we were in the country we might as well look at that farm you were talking about. She thought the house was just impossible," Mama chuckled, "but I showed her how it could be fixed up real cute. It has the nicest big window in the living room. Mary where's those curtains I bought?"

Mary winked sly at Deb. Then she looked surprised. "Why, Papa aren't you glad? Mama made an appointment with the man to draw up the papers."

"Well, that's fine," Deb said slowly. He shuffled forward to view the package Mama was unwrapping. His shoulders were hunched in their accustomed slump, and his chin set at its old, defeated angle.

Plane Accident Causing Death of Former Polish Premier Was Not From This Cause

Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair, denied in Commons the charge that the death of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, former Polish premier, in July, 1943, resulted from overloading of aeroplane taking off from a Gibraltar airfield.

Sinclair said the wreck which resulted in Sikorski's death was caused by the breaking of a piece of machinery in the plane which locked its controls.

Sinclair also said that Lt. Gen. W. H. E. Gott was killed when the plane in which he was travelling to take command of the Eighth Army in August, 1942, was strafed and set on fire by a German plane on Libyan airfield.

Sun Life of Canada

yesterday... today... tomorrow

THE Sun Life of Canada is an institution of Public Service conducted in the interests of its policyholders. Such was the purpose of its founders in 1865, a purpose which has been proudly maintained through nearly eight decades of continuous development. And such will be the purpose that will guide the destiny of this Company in the generations yet to be.

The premiums paid by its more than one million policyholders go into a common fund operated for their benefit. It is out of this fund that policy obligations are paid as they become due. The savings resulting from efficient management, apart from a very small shareholders' interest, go entirely to the policyholders. Each individual policyholder has an interest in the common fund according to the particular form of contract he holds. The relationship of the Company to its policyholders is in the nature of a trusteeship under which the Company agrees to carry out its obligations with the money entrusted to its care. The assets of a life assurance company represent the funds accumulated from the premiums paid by the policyholders. It is the responsibility of the company so to manage these funds as to ensure the faithful carrying out of every obligation, and to endeavour to furnish life assurance at as low a cost as possible. The insurance laws provide ample safeguards to protect the interests of the policyholders and to assure sound administration.

In the past year, the new business secured by the Sun Life of Canada amounted to $220,323,142. The assurances in force increased by $1,391,077,959 and now total $3,312,525,426. The benefits paid during the year were $80,582,921, which brings the total amount paid since the founding of the Company to $1,710,446,363. The Company's activities during 1944 give ample evidence of its continued progress. The business and the assets of the Company have increased, and substantial additions have been made to surplus and other funds to further safeguard policyholders' interests.

GARDEN NOTES

Dig It Well

A great deal of new experience has been gained from Victory Gardens. Most important is the need for thorough preliminary cultivation. In a great many cases this was not done last year and as a result the gardeners were in their knees half the summer fighting weeds and other weeds that should have been thoroughly eradicated in the first place.

Where at all possible the experts advise full plowing or digging of the land to be gardened. Then it should be cultivated thoroughly again in the spring. The objective is to have the soil worked up fine and free of weeds especially witch, before the seeds are planted. Rather than rush in the rush, carrots and peas at the first opportunity. It is better to wait for another week if necessary, and in the meantime cultivating thoroughly and deeply. This extra work before the rows are planted will repay itself many times over in the hoeing and weeding it saves later, after the garden is planted.

Flower Groupings

Flowers divide themselves into three groups. There are very hardy things that sometimes seed themselves, such as marigolds, cosmos, sweet peas, petunia seed, pansies, etc. One can plant them as soon as the ground is ready. In the intermediate category would be nasturtiums, bedding plants and at the far end of the list, lilies, dahlias, gladioli, etc. These plants must be planted and stand frost at all. The degree of hardiness, of course, will be mentioned along with the variety in any good Canadian seed catalogue.

Lawn Work

As soon as the frost goes out it is time to put up protecting stakes and wire, and as soon as one can walk on the grass without miring, it is time to plant seed. One can hardly sow the seed too early, and a high grade mixture from a Canadian seed house is recommended. Follow seeding directions closely. Lawns should be rolled when ground is soft.

CONTROL OF GRAIN INSECTS
Experimental work by the Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has demonstrated that insects and mites affecting grain in storage can be controlled by fumigation with chloropicrin and this method has been employed generally by grain companies in Canada.

Trout belong to the salmonidae family, and, like the salmon, spend a part of their life in salt water, if conditions permit.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Teen Town

Preliminary work on the part of the Lions club has now reached the stage where a committee is ready to interview the School Board for the purpose of securing the high school building and its facilities for Teen Town after school hours and during holidays.

After a great deal of discussion by the Lions it is felt that the facilities possessed in the school are ideal for the teen aged group which will use them in Teen Town. The auditorium is ideal for dramatics, choirs, practices for public concerts and quiet games. Class rooms can take care of those who wish to read, write, debate, etc.

The question of dancing and the setting up of a snack-bar to serve refreshments to students and thus secure a little revenue is a problem that has still to be solved.

While it is fully realized that the Teen Towners desire a building where they can come and go at will the facilities possessed by the town must be the deciding factor and the school, with the co-operation of the School Board, appears to be the best bet.

Let There Be Light

Last week the School Board was the object of much unfair criticism on the part of some high school students. Following complaints from some parents that evening dancing in the high school auditorium had no supervisor and that should something go wrong the Board would be held responsible by those self-same parents, the Trustees took the drastic action of forbidding all activities in the auditorium after school hours.

As some students were in the midst of preparations for the school concert the sudden decree by the Board had disastrous results as now little or no practices can be conducted.

However, the Board was also in the right to try and protect itself, in case something might go wrong. However, we still think their action a little too drastic and suggest they re-consider a milder form of action. The school is maintained by ratepayers for the education of the children, and concerts help develop talent that might otherwise never have the opportunity of coming to the surface.

Fish and Game Warden

It would appear from correspondence reaching the council from the Minister of Lands and Mines that the Crows' Nest Pass is at long last to have a fish and game warden stationed here.

Last year a few sportsmen agitated through the columns of this paper that such a man be stationed in the Pass, giving as their reason that it was humanly impossible for men to be stationed at Lethbridge and Pincher Creek to patrol the forests of the Crows' Nest Pass in search of poachers and those who fish past the legal daily limit. These men maintained with conviction that illegal fishing and hunting was maintained throughout the year.

Their agitation was brought to the attention of the Minister of Lands Mines, who secured facts published in these columns by the local sportsmen. A letter from the town council to station a warden here seemed to be all the minister required, for his letter to council stated that he and Mr. E. O. Duke, MLA, another strong advocate for a Pass fish and game warden, had discussed the matter and steps had been taken to remedy the situation.

Hard-Surfaced Highways

We read with interest recently the aggressive stand taken in the Legislature by the member from Medicine Hat in regard to hard-surfaced highways in his part of the province. The Lethbridge-Counties link is to be hard-surfaced this year also.

In the case of the latter it has taken years of agitation to gain success. It is only natural to believe that in due course Medicine Hat's agitation will gain results.

Agitation was also the main factor in getting the Pass towns hard-surfaced from Coleman to Maple Leaf. Possibly the service clubs and our MLA might raise their voices in chorus and draw Edmonton's attention to the fact that the road from Pincher Creek to Maple Leaf and from Coleman to the BC-Alberta boundary is in dire need of hard-surfacing, little or no attention having been paid to it for years, with the resultant deterioration of the road-bed.

CORRESPONDENCE

Calgary, Feb. 24, 1945.

Editor, Journal.

Dear Sir:

May I address a letter through your columns to those of your readers who had the privilege of knowing Dr. G. W. Kerby, in whose memory Mount Royal College is about to erect a building devoted to the education and inspiration of youth.

Many of them have heard, as I did, the tributes paid by Rev. Andrew Lawson, of Central church, over the radio a week ago and may have been carried back, as I was, to the Sunday afternoon meetings of the Men's Own, where Dr. Kerby welcomed newcomers from all parts of the globe and started them out to farms and smaller centres of this country with a new song on their lips, a new hope and confidence in their hearts. Dr. Kerby personified the friendship of the West.

As my thoughts went back to those days I wondered how many who knew Dr. Kerby would like to say so, in short letters to be deposited in the corner stone of the Memorial or included in the Book of Remembrance now being prepared. There must be 100,000 of them.

Some find it difficult to write. Let me make a suggestion to them. If each one of that 100,000 would send a bill (even a dollar) and tell of some good deed they knew Dr. Kerby to do, the whole cost of the Memorial Building would be met. What could be a sounder foundation for such a structure than a record of his good works or what could inspire the youth of this land better than this.

The West is still young; it is still in its formative stage. Dr. Kerby made a magnificent contribution to the period in which he lived. Others may follow his example and we who have benefited by it have an opportunity now, in this enterprise to perpetuate his good works and his influence for good. I earnestly hope that all who read this letter will respond quickly and with a smile, sending their letters and gifts direct to the Principal of Mount Royal College, Calgary.

Yours truly,

Wilbur Horner,
One of the Men's Own.

Issues Appeal

Mr. William M. Birke, of Montreal, chairman of The Canadian Allied Relief Fund, issued an appeal last week to all ethnic groups in Canada to energetically support and work for the campaign of The Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. Birke was speaking on behalf of The Belgian War Relief Fund, Canada-France Relations Committee, Canadian Aid to Russia, Canadian Friends of Luxembourg, The Chinese War Relief Fund, Czechoslovak War Charities Fund, Greek War Relief Fund and Yugoslav Relief Fund, who are members of The Canadian United Allied Relief Fund.

Born of the urgent need to send relief to the long-suffering civilian population of Allied countries, and the practical desire to raise the necessary funds from the people of Canada in such a way as not to multiply unnecessarily the appeals to their generosity, it was decided to adopt the principle of the Community Chest. In other words, instead of conducting eleven separate drives for the relief of the people of eleven Allied nations, they would be combined in one National Campaign, and the proceeds divided on an equitable plan among the victims of Nazi occupation.

The rest of the story is told by Mr. Birke at the headquarters of the Fund, 130 Queen Street, Ottawa:

"The Canadian United Relief Fund is made up of representatives of the relief organization of Belgium, Norway, Greece, Poland, Russia, China, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, France Luxembourg and the Netherlands, and its purpose is to work out ways and means of securing food, clothing and medicines for those who are in desperate need in these countries.

"The first step obviously is the collection of funds, for the CUARF is dependent entirely upon private benevolence, unlike UNRRA, which is entirely supported by governments. From the outset it was realized that it would be a waste of time and effort to build up an organization of our own to conduct a national campaign, when such an organization already existed, with years of practical experience behind it. We, therefore, with the entire approval of the government, took the matter up with The Canadian Red Cross Society and a plan was worked out under which The Red Cross would combine our relief purposes with their own and conduct the campaign with the wholehearted assistance of the CUARF and its member organizations.

"It is well to remember that this relief agency represents in a very practical way the strong desire of some two million Canadians of European origin—who are often called the New Canadians—to relieve some of the distress in their old homelands, and no one knows better than they do the depth of suffering, physical and mental, to which these most unfortunate victims of Nazi brutality have been reduced. The campaign offers an emotional outlet for these fellow-Canadians, who are loyally doing their part in the war, and whose sons are fighting overseas on land and sea and in the air. They, as well as thousands of Canadians who have throughout the war supported the efforts of our separate relief organizations, can be counted upon to do everything possible to make the national campaign a success, and they individually will not be behindhand in making their own contributions to the common fund."

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PROTECTION

In contributing to Unemployment Insurance, employees are providing protection against loss of employment. This was pointed out by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The impression prevails among some workers that they receive nothing for their contributions. These same workers, however, would pay fire insurance premiums, possibly during their entire lifetime, without receiving any financial return. They were content to pay for the protection and the case of mind resulting from a consciousness that if a fire took place they would be protected.

The regular contributions to unemployment insurance, it was stated by the commission, go into an increasing fund. From this fund, the worker is entitled to receive benefit during periods of unemployment, provided, of course, that he is qualified. As time goes on, workers will grow into the same feeling toward unemployment insurance as they have with respect to insurance against fire loss, sickness or accident.

It is quite true, the commission pointed out, that a worker may contribute to unemployment insurance without drawing benefit because he is regularly employed. If so, this worker is assisting others, and he is fortunate to have employment of such regularity that he is not required to draw benefit. On the other hand, he is conscious that, should the necessity arise, the fund to which he has contributed is there for his protection, and that he is entitled to draw from it.

In a few cases which have come to the notice of the Department of Labor, it appears that some school boards have got into difficulties by forgetting that the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act requires them to reinstate their teachers after discharge from the armed services just as other employees must be reinstated. School boards should protect themselves when engaging substitute to replace teachers who have gone into the armed services by inserting a clause in the contract that the engagement of the substitute may be terminated after the return of the teacher from the forces.

The minister said that some school boards have taken the necessary precautions, and that so far cases where difficulties have arisen are not numerous. However, Hon. Mr. Mitchell expressed the hope that all boards would make the necessary provision in engaging teachers as replacements for those with the services.

"Boards might well consult with the Employment and Selective Service offices, which administer the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act," the labor minister added.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE BENEFITS

The amount of the insurance benefit which an unemployed insured worker may receive depends on the amount of contributions made, according to information given out by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The Commission has issued an Employees' Booklet on the Unemployment Insurance Act, copies of which are obtainable at employment offices. This booklet contains a table of weekly contributions and benefits worked out on the basis of the contributions made. The amount of the weekly benefit is based on the average of contributions made by a worker within the previous two years, multiplied by 34 in the case of a single person.

FREE CHOICE

HAT'S all this talk about life insurance being a monopoly?

ANSWER: It's just not true. If you want to shop around in Canada for insurance—you can pick an American company, or a British company, or a Canadian company. You may choose a stock company, or a strictly mutual company. You may select either a participating or a non-participating policy.

You mean there's real competition?

ANSWER: There is, indeed. Anyone who has let it be known that he is in the market for insurance realizes just how keen competition is between the different companies. He knows they offer a wide variety of plans and premium rates. Monopoly is a term which can never be truthfully applied to the life insurance business in Canada.

So the Red Cross will continue to reach out a helping hand. It must heal

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Friends: Words cannot express my sincere appreciation for your generosity in sending me 600 cigarettes. Please extend my thanks to the miners' union. I hope that you are all fine and that next Christmas will find the boys of Coleman home again. — George Evans.

Dear Friends: Just a line to thank you for the cigs I received at Xmas, 300 from the Welfare Fund and 300 from the union. Thank you also for cigs I received during the past year. I received them each month all right. I know we should send the cards back, but just the same, fellows, we look forward to our cigs each month.

I am hoping that this year will be the last one here and that we will be in Coleman at the end of 1945. Wishing you all the best in 1945 and thanking the people of Coleman for the cigs and the union for the Christmas box of 300 cigs. — L. Brown.

Dear Sirs: Thanks again for the cigs. I hope you had a good Christmas and New Year. I had a fair Christmas considering the conditions we are under at the present time. — N. Cytke.

Dear Friends: When I arrived back from a very pleasant leave spent in Belfast, 300 Sweet Caps, the gift of the Overseas Welfare League, were awaiting me. Thank you very much. Best wishes to all. — J. T. Dunbar.

Dear Friends: Just another line to thank you for the 600 cigs I received for Xmas. Wishing everyone the very best. — Mel. Counsins.

Dear Friends: I received two cartons of your cigarettes yesterday and thank you very much. Boy, I certainly can use them. At present I'm in Belgium. I hope you all had a very good Christmas and New Year. Let's hope next year sees all Canadians back where they belong—in good old Canada. — G. D'Andrea.

Dear Sirs: Received some more cigarettes from you today, making it six cartons to date. Thanks a million to you and all the people that are dropping money into the wooden soldier out there. — Ernest Gouding.

Dear Sirs: Received your parcel of 300 cigs O.K. and thank once again. I have just come back from England where I spent eleven days leave. London looks quite a bit better now that they have a few lights burning. — Ronald Jones.

Dear Sirs: Would you please extend to all the people of Coleman who have made it possible for your organization to send to me the cigarettes and lovely Christmas parcels I have just received, my sincere thanks, and an extra thanks to all the members of the Legion and the Women's Auxiliary who have worked so hard in preparing and sending the parcels.

It is very nice to receive these things and be able to look back and realize that our friends back home haven't forgotten us.

Through a wrong address I have not been receiving the cigarettes regularly, but since coming to Italy I have begun to receive them, because the unit they are sent to by mistake is also in Italy and they have been sending them on the last couple of times. Today I have just received the 600 cigs sent me by your organization and miners' union, again I say thanks to you all.

I have met a few boys from home out here, but it is so hard to get around even if you know where they are located. At present I am located in a city where most boys come on leave, so have met a couple of them that way. I was very pleased to meet my cousin, Jimmy Lloyd, and I have also met Thomas Goldring and Mrs. MacLean and Aisello since coming here.

Well friends, here's hoping that by this time next year most of us will be home, but although I think the end is in sight, I am afraid we have a long hard struggle ahead of us yet. Must close now and get back on duty, so once again I say thanks to you all, and all the luck in the world in 1945. — Mae Moore.

Dear Sirs: I just received the 600 cigs and here's thanking all who made it possible for you fellows to send them to us. I received the Ladies' Auxiliary parcel which I answered right away. All the best. — Fred Hirst.

Sirs: In answer for the cigs so thoughtfully sent. Thank you, you have my appreciation. — M. J. Pardi.

Dear Friends: Receiving every gift of cigarettes and thanks very much for same. Hope to be back with you all before long. — Geo. Burchell.

Dear Sirs: Received cigarettes O.K. and would like to thank you very much. Things are going pretty good with me in Holland. I have only met two Coleman boys, Johnny Nimcan and Pete Smith. Both are well and are looking forward to going home soon; but aren't we all? Best wishes. — Geo. Burtinik.

Dear Sirs: Received your most welcome gift of 600 cigarettes today, and I was really grateful to get them. I have just returned from a leave, which was spent at Rome. We had a good time. — Jim Lloyd.

Sirs: Am back in England and yesterday received 300 Winchester cigarettes. They had been following me around for a while and are the first I have received for some time. — Oliver Barringham.

Dear Sirs: Thank you for the cigarettes which I have received. They are coming through regularly. We had some real Canadian weather the past two weeks, real snow and cold. — J. Panek.

Dear Sirs: Received your cigs, which arrived in the nick of time, and which are greatly appreciated over here. — Pte. W. Cieslak.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks. — R. Detobel.

Dear Friends: Just a note to thank you for your Xmas cigarettes and all those that you sent during the year. I trust that you will not have to continue sending cigarettes much longer. — R. E. Bowen.

Dear Sirs: I am very sorry for not writing sooner to let you know that I had received 600 Winchester cigarettes which were made possible by the Welfare Fund and miners' union. They came on Xmas Day and believe it or not that was just about as good a Xmas present as anyone could wish to receive.

The cigs which we received from you and a candy bag which we received through the courtesy of the Sally Ann helped to brighten things up considerably.

Before closing I would like to thank those people who make these donations possible. Thank you all. Keep up the good work. — W. R. McLeod.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for the gift of 600 cigarettes I received yesterday. Every Xmas season since joining the Army I have been very fortunate in getting these extra cigs and they are just as welcome and now more appreciated than ever. Please convey by sincerest thanks to the UMWA for the generous assistance this organization offered in helping to make these smokes possible for the fellows from Coleman. We are having a bit of winter for a change here, with temperatures hovering around zero. We are quite happy as it is a change from the rain and mud we have had for so long. — O. H. Hirsch.

Dear Sirs: I wish to acknowledge the season's greeting sent me. It found me well at the time I received it, but now I am in a hospital somewhere in Belgium and coming along as well as can be expected.

I expect to go back to England when I am able to get around. So far I have only received the Christmas parcel from the Ladies Auxiliary, the tobacco parcel not having arrived as yet. Thanking the people of Coleman from the bottom of my heart. — W. S. Volendorf.

Dear Sirs: Received two parcels of Winchester cigarettes in tonight's mail. Thanks very much.

I might say Holland reminds me so much of Canada, particularly in the winter time, for one sees the children and grownups skating in the canals and ditches. I can remember when I went to school and read books on the history of Holland and the customs of its people. Something stuck in my mind and that was their funny looking skates. They are long steel blades, curved at the front quite like figure skates, mounted in hardwood which can be attached to boots by leather thongs. Nevertheless they manage to manipulate them all right. A pair of these blades cost in the neighborhood of $4.50.

Will close now, again thanking you and wishing you all the best in the New Year and trusting that 1945 will be the Victory year. — J. A. Howarth.

Leadership In War

EVERY WAR HAS HAD ITS GREAT LEADERS in both political and military affairs, and undoubtedly wise and courageous leadership make an invaluable contribution to the welfare of a nation at all times, whether it is at peace or at war. The fate which has now overtaken Germany, Japan and Italy, is the result of the predatory policies of the Axis leaders, which has led not only to the destruction of their own countries, but to the disruption of normal living in almost every part of the world. In contrast, we have the example of the magnificent leadership which has been given to Great Britain, the United States, Russia and other United Nations during the five difficult years which have just passed. Each of these nations has passed through numerous crises during the war, but their governments have remained firm and the people have had every reason to give their loyalty and support to the men who are their leaders.

Empire Has Had Great Leaders

It is often said that the British Empire has been fortunate in having many great men for leaders, both in politics and in combat. The pages of history substantiate this belief, for the story of the British people is linked with such names as Cromwell, Pitt, Gladstone, Drake, Wellington, Nelson, and countless others. The Second World War will add many more to this list, for there has been no lack of courage, vision and ability to lead us at this time. Although in comparison with the enemy, Britain was poorly prepared for war, men came forward in every branch of service, who were able to lead the nation to a position of vast superiority, in spite of air raids, submarine warfare, bomb attacks and numerous other difficulties. It is true that the resources of the United Nations were greater than those of the enemy, but they could not have been so quickly and effectively mobilized had we been less fortunate in the quality of our leaders.

Many Changes For Germany

The course of events during the past twenty years have perhaps demonstrated too much clearly than at any time in the world's history, the great damage that can be wrought through the unscrupulous use of political power. The question of the extent to which the people of the Axis nations are guilty for the acts of their leaders is a controversial one, but one point which is clear is that it is the concern of every country to see that in the future they must show that they are capable of choosing wise leaders, or have those leaders chosen for them. At the recent conference in the Crimea, Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin showed the need to stamp out all that is connected with Germany's repeated efforts to gain power through aggression during the past century. This will involve a very different type of leadership for the German people, but if this change can be effected, it will go far towards ensuring peace in the years to come.

Study Dress Designing

War Veterans In Montreal Decide To Enroll For Course

Men who have battled in tanks and marched miles in mud can nevertheless produce the art and dexterity required to design a lady's dress. That is what 25 war veterans in Montreal believe and they have the courage of their convictions for they have enrolled to take a course in dress designing. But the veterans don't propose to forget that they have been active soldiers. They've applied to form a dress-designers branch of Canadian Legion.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—What coupons in our ration book are to be used for conning sugar?

A.—Canning sugar can be purchased with the use of the preserves coupons. Under this arrangement there will be only two types of coupons for the purchase of sugar, that is, the regular sugar coupon good for one pound of sugar and the ration allotment. Eight more coupons of sugar or the alternative value in preserves. Two of these extra preserves coupons will become valid on March 15 to provide for early preserving, which will bring coupons 41, 42, 43 and 44 into use. Two of these coupons cover the regular preserves ration allotment. Eight more coupons will become valid for canning sugar on the 17th of May, and the other ten will be good on and after July 19.

Q.—I wish to order a gallon of maple syrup from Eastern Canada. Can you tell me what the procedure is.

A.—If you wish to order one gallon of syrup, you must forward four preserves coupons to the nearest Local Ration Board. A special document will then be mailed to you and you will place your order with the track of. After June 1st the value of the preserves coupon goes back to its former value of 21 fluid ounces. Each coupon now is worth 10 fluid ounces, as of February 19.

Q.—If I sell my house which I now have rented, how many months' notice would I have to give the tenants who are living in it now?

A.—You cannot give notice at all. The new purchaser must give six months' notice and must plan on occupying the house for at least a period of one year or have the house occupied for the same period of time by the father, mother, son, daughter, or daughter-in-law of the purchaser. You cannot ask a tenant to move between the dates of September 30 and April 30 of the following year.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your selling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Plans To Duplicate His Father's Feet Of Shooting Niagara

William (Red) Hill, Jr., 31-year-old son of the famous riverman who shot the Niagara river rapids in a barrel 14 years ago, said he plans to duplicate his father's feat next May 14, third anniversary of Hill's death. "I'm not doing this for myself," he said, explaining he hopes to erect a monument to his father with the proceeds.

The late William Hill was the only man to hold four life saving medals from the Royal Canadian Humane Society. He recovered more than 300 bodies from the Niagara river.

"If anyone is entitled to a suitable monument near the banks of the Niagara river, that man is my father," Hill said.

He said he would make his trip in a steel barrel which was designed by his father.

Prized Heirloom

16th Century Glass In Possession Of Edmonton Woman

A Venetian glass pickle dish 429 years old and said to be the only one of its kind in Canada is one of the proud possessions of Mrs. E. Murray of Edmonton. An heirloom handed down in the family from mother to daughter through many generations, it came to her 40 years ago and originally came from one of the family in Switzerland.

The unique beauty of the piece lies in the rare quality of the glass which contains a blend of colors; black, violet, purple and mauve right through the heavy glass. Mrs. Murray says antique experts at Edmonton have told her the formula by which the glass was made has been lost for 400 years.

Solve Labor Problems

Women Employed On Various Railway Jobs Do Good Work

Women workers have entered into many railway occupations which were held exclusively by men before the war. A survey just completed shows a total of 654 women employed in Canadian National Shops, roundhouses, coach yards and car repair tracks throughout the system. Some of them are boilermakers, welders, car oilers, blacksmith helpers and electric crane operators. But the majority of these women are applying their natural household cleaning habits to keeping railway locomotives and passenger cars as spotless as possible. Others are helpers to machinists, sheet metal workers, boilermakers and carmen, and the remainder are classified as laborers, seamstresses, car porters and a turntable operator.

The Central Region of the C.N.R. has 373 women in these Mechanical Department positions, followed by the Atlantic Region with 124, the Western Region with 89, and on C.N.R. lines in the United States, 77.

"These workers are doing an excellent job and they have certainly solved many of our labor problems due to war conditions," said E. R. Battley, chief of motive power and our equipment for the National system. "When these male employees are in the services receive their military discharges they will, of course, return to their railway jobs which were filled by these women workers."

Indians Built Hospital

Crees Care For Patients Themselves Under Doctor's Supervision

An Indian woman, critically ill, was restored to health through the administration of penicillin in a makeshift hospital built by her fellow-Crees at Favorable Lake, near the Ontario-Manitoba border. Dr. P. E. Moore, acting superintendent of medical services for the Indian Affairs Branch, Mines and Resources Department, said.

Dr. L. C. Bartlett, who has practiced at Favorable Lake for several years and who treated the woman, reported results obtained from the continuous, intravenous administration of penicillin were miraculous.

A second native patient, also seriously ill, was successfully treated with penicillin.

The log building, containing eight beds, was erected with the help of the Indian Affairs Branch, which supplied materials. Now, said Dr. Moore, the Indians bring their sick to Dr. Bartlett for treatment, and pitch their tents beside his hospital. No other help is available, and they care for the patients themselves under his supervision.

MILK IS A VALUABLE FOOD

Milk is not a perfect food but is the best individual one known. It contains materials which produce energy, foster growth, take care of the repair of worn out muscle tissue and, together with vitamin D, can look after the formation and upkeep of bones and teeth. It is a fundamental food for human beings of all ages.

However, milk does not contain all the food requirements in correct proportion. It is about 84% to 85% water. It contains an emulsified fat, commonly known as butter, which is chiefly digested in the stomach. All other food fats take much longer to break down and are digested in the intestines.

The protein of milk has all the factors which sustain life as it contains important minerals and vitamins. However, it is deficient in iron, iodine, vitamin B1 or thiamin and vitamins C and D.

Milk is a "Jekyll and Hyde". Considered a fine all-round food, it at the same time is a culture medium for fermentative, putrefactive and virulent disease germs.

Dr. John R. Fraser, Dean of Medicine at McGill University, Montreal, has stated that "unsafe milk has been responsible in the past for more deaths and illness than all other foods grouped together."

And, even clean milk can be unsafe, despite all possible precautions at the source of supply. Therefore, milk must be put through some process that will kill disease germs before it is bottled in order to make it safe. That process is pasteurization.

CLOTHES LINE FANS AT HEART

In a recent article in the Maple Leaf, a Canadian Army newspaper in Italy, a poll of CWACs serving in the Mediterranean was taken on the question, "Women in the Post-War Army." The "No's" got a big majority, but Pte. Carole Thompson, Canadiff, Sask., said "Yes" and gave her reason. "I favor women in the post war army because I think the war has changed many of us and a number of us don't intend to get married." She didn't enlarge her point. Among the "Yes's" was Pte. Mary Reeves, Merritt, B.C., to whom "lines" mean something since her service in Italy. Mary said, "In peace time there's no line but the one in the back yard from pole to pole so the necessity of women in uniform doesn't arise." Sgt. Isabel Lochhead, one time Calgary newspaper woman, said, "I'm the domestic type and old fashioned enough to think a woman's place is still in the home." Sgt. Nancy Mercer, Manville, Alta., with a practical thought remarked, "The permanent force is hardly a conceivable frame-work for a feminine career." CANUCKS PREFER CWACs

Luna Turner and Greer Garson have had it so far as these Canadian gunners on active service in Holland are concerned they prefer CWACs. Evidence of this fact comes in a letter recently received by the C.W.A.C. Commanding Officer at Fort Osborne, Winnipeg. Requesting pin-up pictures of eight CWACs. The letter signed "Eight Canucks" read in part, "As you know most fellows are writing to movie stars for pin-ups but we would prefer eight pictures of our own Canadian CWACs." In a P.S. of sudden courage the boys signed their names and addresses. Three of them were Westons, Gunners J. L. Costello, Vancouver and R. Vicars and F. Meyers, Calgary. To fulfil their request a canvass of M.D. 10 is being made to find eight of the most "pin-up-able" CWACs in the district. Their pictures will be made into wallet size prints and dispatched to the lonely Canadian gunners.

STEW WITH GLAMOR

Almost everyone will agree that a well prepared, attractively served stew rates well up on the list of flavorful, savory entrees. The less expensive cuts of meat are here used to their best possible advantage—and in dramatic style.

Economical, savory with an appealing aroma to tempt and coax the appetite, the stew is a particularly happy choice for service these days when thoughtful menu planners are seeking to provide the most in food value for their families at the least cost.

Countless variations are included in the list of stews, with almost every family cookbook boasting its own special favorite version. One delicious version uses veal with an assortment of vegetables and piquant seasonings.

This stew gains an interesting new touch of glamor by the service of a rice accompaniment—oven popped rice cereal combined with a judicious assortment of seasonings, shortening and tangy grated cheese. These crisp bubbles of grain are a happy choice for service with veal stew because they lend appealing texture contrast, added flavor and delightful eye appeal. They can be prepared with a minimum of effort, too, an important factor on busy days.

Pile the crisp cereal in the centre of a large chop plate and surround it with the savory veal stew. A service of spiced peaches or crab apple is an especially appropriate menu accompaniment.

Vegetable Veal Stew

- (Serves 6)
- 1½ pounds chuck, breast or neck of veal (cut in cubes)
 - 5 tablespoons butter
 - 1½ teaspoons salt
 - 1½ teaspoons pepper
 - 1 cup bacon drippings
 - 4 medium potatoes (diced)
 - 4 medium carrots (sliced)
 - 1 cup peas (fresh or canned)
 - 1 cup shortening
 - 4 medium tomatoes (sauce)
 - 2½ teaspoons salt
 - 1½ teaspoons paprika
 - 5½ cups oven popped rice cereal (1 package)
 - 1 cup dry grated cheese (4 oz.)

Mix three tablespoons of the flour with the salt and pepper. Dredge the cubes of veal in the flour mixture and brown them in the hot bacon drippings. Cover with boiling water and simmer for about 1½ hours. Then add the vegetables and simmer for (one half hour longer. Mix remaining two tablespoons of flour with cold water to form a stiff paste. Add to stew and cook until the gravy is thickened, stirring constantly. Serve with Cheese Cereal made as follows:

Melt shortening in large shallow baking pan (approximately 10 x 15) add seasonings. Stir in oven-popped rice cereal. Add grated cheese; mix thoroughly. Place in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) stirring occasionally, for about 15 minutes.

SUBMARINE CONCENTRATION IS REPORTED ON NORWAY COAST TO MENACE ALLIED SHIPPING

LONDON. Tucks of swift, new long range U-boats are being concentrated in Norwegian waters for a last desperate campaign against Allied shipping in the Atlantic.

Norwegian officials have reported upwards of 300 German submarines and a considerable number of light cruisers, destroyers and other smaller warships now based in Norway's sheltered fjords.

This fleet practically the last of Germany's once powerful navy is protected by strongly constructed positions of concrete blocks 25 feet thick and built into cliffs, with ferro-concrete roofs and room for eight or nine U-boats in each.

These stations, according to Norwegian sources, are distributed along the entire coastline.

There have been reports from inside Germany, reaching border listening posts, that only about 80 U-boats are operating in the present campaign but that if this "experimental operation" is successful the German high command will throw in its whole force for what might be a last fling against Allied shipping.

With this concentration of U-boats, light cruisers and destroyers the Germans are expected to launch Goebbels' recently promised sea campaign, which he declared would disrupt Allied shipping and stop the flow of men, guns and ammunition to the fighting fronts.

Naval observers have believed that German sea attacks on a fairly large scale might start at any time, although they would not compare with the U-boat campaign early in the war.

REALLY EFFECTIVE

Goop-Bomb Used By U.S. Air Force Is Highly Inflammable

WASHINGTON. Very likely it's the "goop bomb" that is bothering the Germans. Swedish dispatches reported new type incendiary bombs have been dropped on Berlin by the United States air force, causing fires of "unprecedented extent" and baffling German fire fighters. The goop, which air force officials say "cannot be extinguished," contains a mixture of jellied oil, powdered magnesium and other highly inflammable agents.

OATMEAL EATER

GAMRIE Scotland. James Rae, a farm worker, claims to be "Scotland's biggest oatmeal eater." He said when he appeared as a witness in court that it takes half a pound of oatmeal for his breakfast; that he has oatcakes at dinner; porridge at tea time; and oatmeal puddings for supper.

AID FOR FRENCH NAVY

WASHINGTON. The United States navy has spent more than $200,000,000 to rebuild the French navy since the Allied landings in North Africa in 1942 it was announced. In addition, the United States with assistance from Britain, is supplying all material to operate the French fleet.

DEVASTATION OF THE GERMAN COUNTRYSIDE FOLLOWS IN THE WAKE OF MARCH ON THE RHINE

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY. Overcoming German resistance to the advance of the 1st Canadian army through rolling farmlands between the Maas and Rhine rivers in searching the German countryside as surely as if the enemy were destroying his own village, his own cattle, his own crops. This march on the Rhine follows a destructive course. Kleve, Goch, Calcar, Uedem and lesser villages in the path of the advance since Feb. 8 can be written off as habitable communities for homes, shells, mortars and small arms fire have razed their buildings, torn up their streets, wrecked their public services.

Farmhouses along the dirt roads linking the towns are in equally bad shape. The Germans converted them into strongpoints and our artillery smashed them to pulp with countless shells.

The Canadian artillery fire recently has been tremendous. In some places scarcely an arm's length separates craters. Rich in livestock before the attack began, the countryside now is a graveyard for hundreds

RETURNED SOLDIERS

Nearly 2,000 Now In Canada Under Rotation Leave Scheme

OTTAWA. Defence Minister McNaughton announced that 1988 active service soldiers have returned to Canada from overseas under the rotation leave scheme and all but 53 have been retained in the Dominion and will be posted to home war establishments.

Three quotas have returned, totaling 444 and 700, and 848, respectively, and 1,935 will be posted to home establishments so their experience overseas in the field might be used to advantage in the training of reinforcements and in other units in Canada.

The total of 53 who had returned overseas were all men who had expressed a wish for this service. Their cases were reviewed in the light of their special qualifications and the needs of the army both overseas and here in Canada.

Further quotas for "rotation" are being arranged as transportation facilities become available, Gen. McNaughton said.

TELL THE TRUTH

Ontario To Put Obligation On Companies And Promoters

TORONTO. A securities bill, given first reading in the Ontario legislature, will impose an obligation on companies and promoters to tell the truth about the securities they sell, said Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell who introduced the measure.

Promoters and financial agents will be required to keep files of all transactions and present them for approval to a securities commission. The commission, not to exceed three members will be responsible to the government for its actions.

Persons carrying on business of "investment counsel" are for the first time recognized and are required to register under the act.

ARGENTINA'S STAND

Is Unlikely That It Will Find Cause To Declare War

BUENOS AIRES. Col. Juan Peron, vice president of Argentina, declared he desired full restoration of cordial relations with the United States and Russia but said the possibility was unlikely that his country would find tattering Germany's behavior sufficient cause to declare war against the Nazis.

In an interview Col. Peron asserted that a sudden declaration of war against Germany "on grounds of purely insufficient tardily recognized and ego-centric would alienate our friends in this country and other American republics and give our foes an opportunity to heap scorn on us."

LEBANON DECLARES WAR

The Canadian artillery fire recently has been tremendous. In some places scarcely an arm's length separates craters. Rich in livestock before the attack began, the countryside now is a graveyard for hundreds of cows, pigs, sheep, horses and poultry.

Uedem where organized resistance ended escaped the heavy bombing which smashed Kleve and Goch on the eve of the 1st Canadian army offensive, but it has been pummeled by medium bombers and fighter-bombers and debased with shells. Many houses are still standing, but they lack fronts, sides or roofs.

Uedem's defenders were chiefly paratroopers and Maj. R. D. Higgins of Preston, Ont., said "about 90 per cent of them would die in their holes rather than give up. The battalion took only between 30 and 40 prisoners."

4,000 British And American Prisoners Sent To Another Camp

LONDON.—The British war office said it had been informed that 4,000 sick American and British prisoners of war have left Stalag 344 at Landsdorf in eastern Germany for another German prison camp as yet unknown. Canadians have been reported among prisoners located at Stalag 344.

Physically fit prisoners from Stalag 344 were reported on the march between Bechthelm Leipzig and Karlsruhe.

The war office said also that prisoners from Stalag 8, where Canadians also were reported located, had been divided, part proceeding toward Kassel and part to Neuenberg, while prisoners from Stalag 8 C were moving toward Hanover and Kassel.

When the Swedish liner Gripsholm, on another mercy mission, docked in New York, she carried many members of the Canadian Army and the Royal Canadian Air Force repatriated from German prison camps for medical reasons. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAYS UNITED STATES WILL HAVE TO COLLABORATE WITH WORLD

WASHINGTON. President Roosevelt said today that the United States will have to take the responsibility for world collaboration "or we shall have to bear the responsibility for another world conflict."

Mr. Roosevelt said he returns home from his long journeys "with a firm belief that we have made a good start on the road to a world peace."

Sitting in the house of representatives chamber at a joint session of the two branches of congress the president said in a personal report on the Crimea conference that the Allies will not desert for one moment "until unconditional surrender" is won.

"The German people, as well as the German soldiers," he asserted, "must realize that the sooner they give up and surrender, by groups or as individuals, the sooner their present agency will be over. They must realize that with only complete surrender can they begin to re-establish themselves as people whom the world might accept as decent neighbors."

Unconditional surrender of Japan is as essential as the defeat of Germany. "If our plans for world peace are to succeed," he declared, adding that Japanese militarism must be wiped out as thoroughly as German militarism.

The president described the big three meeting at Yalta as a successful effort to find a common ground for peace.

"It spells the end of the system of unilateral action and exclusive alliances and spheres of influence and balances of power and all the other expedients which have been tried for centuries and have failed."

"We propose to substitute for all of these a universal organization in which all peace loving nations will finally have a chance to join."

"I am confident that the congress and the American people will accept the results of this conference as the beginnings of a permanent structure of peace upon which we can begin to build, under God, that better world in which our children and grandchildren years and mine, the children and grandchildren of the whole world must live."

The president, whose speech was broadcast, reminded the senators sitting before him that they will soon have an opportunity to make a great decision "which will determine the fate of the United States and of the world, for generations to come."

He apparently referred to the projected world security organization, American participation in which will be passed on by the senate some time in the future.

He expressed a hope that congress would decide his journey was "a fruitful one."

"For unless you here in the halls of the American congress, with the support of the American people, concur in the decisions reached at Yalta and give them your active support," he said, "the meeting will not have produced lasting results."

Mr. Roosevelt said the senate and house of representatives both would be represented at the San Francisco United Nations conference beginning April 25, with both major parties having equal representation.

"World peace," he said, "is not a party question any more than is military victory. The structure of world peace cannot be the work of one man or one party, or one nation. . . . It cannot be a structure of complete perfection at first."

CANADA CAN MAINTAIN THE BRITISH MARKET FOR BACON BY INCREASED PRODUCTION

OTTAWA. It would be a mistake to allow hog production to decline, because Canada's post-war market will depend largely on the number of hogs she is able to produce. Agriculture Minister Gardner said in an interview.

In the week ended Feb. 17, hog gradings amounted to 1,127,376, a decline of 25.5 per cent as compared with gradings of 1,577,511 in the corresponding week of 1944.

Last year Canada shipped 700,000 pounds of bacon to the United Kingdom, and has undertaken to ship 450,000,000 pounds in 1945 and 1946 respectively, a total of 900,000,000 pounds. A market exists for as much as can be produced, and British authorities have indicated they hoped shipments would reach 600,000,000 pounds in 1945 and 1946.

Mr. Gardner said production last year was higher than had been thought possible and that to some extent farmers "overdid" it. The production of feed grains last year was "not so good" and livestock had been fed on the big crop grown in 1942.

Labor and feed now are the principal problems. The feed problem in Canada now is primarily one of distribution, and though the overall supply situation is not stringent stocks of coarse grains are decreasing fairly rapidly because of heavy domestic disappearance and an active export movement.

Hog production will "come back" to some extent as the year goes along, he said. There was bound to be some reaction. More labor was required to feed hogs than to produce beef, but "we want all the hogs we can get."

After the war Britain would return to hog production to the extent that she could feed herself. She preferred to produce milk for her own requirements and likely would turn to Canada for cheese requirements.

Britain would be unable to raise more than a certain number of hogs on her own feed grain, and if it became necessary to import grain she no doubt would consider it sound policy to buy hogs from "the people who have the grain and can finish them."

Mr. Gardner said production last year was higher than had been thought possible and that to some extent farmers "overdid" it. The production of feed grains last year was "not so good" and livestock had been fed on the big crop grown in 1942.
